Building the Kingdom Together

Greetings!

COVID-19 is picking up steam in Myanmar. There are more lockdowns, greater economic hardship, more students pleading for food and financial support, and greater uncertainty and fear than at any other time since the beginning of the pandemic.

I cannot return in person for the foreseeable future, since Myanmar is still closed to most foreigners, but our ministries are still going strong in many different ways. Thanks to Zoom and other technology, I am able to lecture, preach, conduct workshops, and offer guidance for students all online, and I'm in daily contact with various teachers, staff, and students.

Meanwhile, the construction continues for the eight story 90th Anniversary Building (pictured above), which is so critical for the future development of the growing school with over 1400 students. The new building will house classrooms, offices, a Counseling Center, and a Spiritual Formation Center. FHLGM has been invited to expand our ministries by overseeing the development of the Spirituality Center, once the building is completed.

Globally, I'm very excited about how my new book What We Can Expect from God Now is being so well received in many different countries. Almost immediately, when the first essays were being published separately, individuals from various countries began volunteering to translate them into their local languages.

Today, we have translated or are in the process of translating the set of individual essays into eight different languages (Burmese, Kachin, Lai Chin, Mizo Chin, Hindi, French, Vietnamese, and Khmer) with the goal of distributing the whole collection in book form as widely as possible in as many of the countries where these languages are spoken: Myanmar, Cambodia, Vietnam, India, and several Francophile African countries.

While much of the world is on pause, waiting to see what's going to happen or trying to cope with the new challenges and dangers posed by the pandemic, God has multiplied the opportunities for teaching, inspiring, and encouraging Christian leaders for Faith, Hope, and Love Global Ministries.

Please help us to take full advantage of these new opportunities. Your support is needed now more than ever. Several specific projects for which we are looking for financial sponsorship are listed below.

Thank you for your prayers and partnership in these Kingdom building ministries.

In Christ's service,

- $25/student (total budget: $1150)-Care packages (rice, beans, small amount of cash) to help with the basic needs of 46 MDiv. 3 students, who moved to Yangon to have access to the MIT library and for better internet/phone connection to attend online courses than they have in their villages.
- $$$ Contributions are needed for Myanmar Institute of Theology to finish the construction of a new 90th Anniversary building. 30% of $1.5 million budget has been raised so far. The money goes a long way in Myanmar, but MIT still has a long way to go to raise even this amount.

This book was created from the essay series, "What Can We Expect from God Now?" by the author in response to the COVID-19 global crisis, which began spreading rapidly throughout the world, early in 2020. The essays discuss timeless biblical truths, which are not confined to global pandemics. These spiritual truths are relevant throughout our lives and provide an indispensable foundation for trusting God in troubled times. They also help Christians to know better how to live by their faith in all circumstances.

*Trust in the LORD with all your heart,
And do not lean on your own understanding.
In all your ways acknowledge him,
And he will make your paths straight.*
Proverbs 3:5-6 (NASB)
